

THE SPECTATOR

Many Sports World Leaders Have Homes in Our Town

THERE MUST BE something uniquely indigenous to Narberth that begets athletic prowess and supremacy. Among other things, baseball penants have come here so often during the last 50 years that the chief interest is stirred only when they fail to happen.

Here also seems to be the logical abode of men accepted as national leaders in other fields of sports, so much so that if a Pennsylvania football coach fails to live in these parts something must surely be the matter with him or his team. Lou Young has resided in Narberth for a long time, and his impressive experience with the Red and Blue elevens will always be something for the sports experts to conjure with.

Harvey Harman was a borough resident (and a member of the local Council) when he was on the same U. of P. job, only leaving when he took over at Rutgers.

Allie Miller was here for nearly 30 years, and he had his turn in coaching Villanova and Washington and Jefferson. Perhaps he was also engaged with other schools, but he is not up the street any longer to ask easily, as he moved to Stratford a few months ago, which was too bad. (What's Stratford got, Allie, that Narberth lacks?)

Jack Jefferies, of course, was another member of the local galaxy, as he taught the tony kids at Hill School how to play ball and after that he put Princeton on the map of big diamond doings.

As is well-known, Jack was a sand-lot player in this town and not even top-ace Bill Durbin will say there was a better one. Bill himself went all over eastern America when he was active in the game, and if "atomic" had been a working adjective in his day that would inevitably have been applied to his kind of high speed pitching to the utter confusion of his opponents.

Saying these things, it can be seen why Ed Pollock has taken root amongst us, for where better could he get the real feel of his trade than in this neighborhood? Ed's reviews have assuredly advanced sports writings to a fine art and have established him as a scribe of large importance, for the polls indicate that the sporting pages are the first choice of newspaper readers, more than 60 per cent tilting that way, and what would that mean in the case of the Evening Bulletin? Not less than a half-million persons daily, a sensitive and smart-eyed group, and to keep in high favor with them, as Ed plainly does, is a grand tribute to his noteworthy procedure.

This observer, whose only athletic specialty is conviction that Connie Mack is one of Philadelphia's heaviest handicaps, never led to read the general sporting news, but he does read Ed Pollock's pieces, and he wants our friend to know that much more than a casual compliment is included in that daily habit.

THERE MUST ALSO be a generous appreciation of George Munger, who lives hard by and who is all to the best in every way. The world knows what he is doing with the U. of P. teams and what a tough task he must have had to adjust his plans to the constantly shifting conditions when war stalked the campus.

One of his many thoughtful personal acts must be recorded. During the week before last Christmas a phone call came to this reporter from Gastonia, N. C. Two old grads of the University of North Carolina wanted tickets to see their team play Georgia at the New Orleans Cotton Bowl on New Year's Day. No duceats were for sale in the entire South and the Tar-Heel State men plaintively wanted to know if Philadelphia wouldn't please help. A call to George Munger solved the riddle. He knows everybody, including the Georgia coach. Four fine seats flew northward at once and then down to Gastonia, to the great joy of Mr. and Mrs. Carey Doshamer and their two friends. Thus served the gracious George, always the gentleman, scholar and sportsman par excellence.

THIS DEPARTMENT is assuredly no place to air a personal peeve, if such this is, but perhaps it is due others to demonstrate that when one fails to keep a well-founded resolution, one can be pretty well disturbed by the penalty he foolishly incurs. It all pertains to a self-imposed pledge to abstain from so-called "best sellers" for not less than two years after they were published, if they were to be read at all, which seldom if ever occurs nowadays.

This kind of conviction, as might be surmised, was the result of being the victim of a long series of swindles, like many another book-buyer. From such an experience, it would not be far-fetched to say that not more than one out of every 25 books of recent fiction has a defensible claim on the labor and material used in its preparation, not to mention the pilferings if the cash and time of the cheated reader.

The general subject of present-day books can be as authentically serious as one wants to make it, as it is evident, among other things, that our forests are being cruelly depleted by the tons of trash which are regularly rolling off the presses of the book publishers. In some respects, the situation is ghastly.

Somewhere in Pennsylvania, as a case in point, a plant is now being built which will cut and bind the books right on the printing press, and the promoters are already gloating over the terrific output which will come to pass. Throughout the land, as a result of regimented bookclub memberships and other smart devices, there is streaming into the homes of Americans carloads of the rubbish and the additional plans underway make one believe that even Alaska's vast reserves of wood-pulp will be hard-pressed to cope with the increasing attack on the nation's culture and through its general moral structure.

Anything, apparently, can find a publisher. How many copies of "Forever Amber" were sold and how many cargoes of good paper were wasted in printing this inane futility? Nancy Bruff wrote "The Manatee," a tawdry thing scorned by every honest reviewer, and yet it sold by the tens of thousands. The same woman, lacking even the most elementary kind of artistic or writing skill, albeit well up on the lush things of concupiscence, is now out with "Cider from Eden," described by Lewis Gannet, of the New York Herald-Tribune, as the worst book, from a literary standpoint, in his entire ex-

Mrs. Earle Rice Dies in Hospital At Age of 50

Narberth Woman Badly Hurt in Church Fall February 21

Funeral services for Mrs. Earle M. Rice, of 105 S. Narberth Ave., Narberth, were held Monday afternoon at Oliver H. Bair's, 1820 Chestnut St., Philadelphia. Mrs. Rice died last Thursday in Bryn Mawr Hospital, four weeks after falling down a flight of stairs in the Baptist Church of the Evangel, Narberth. She was 50 years old. Suffered Fall Feb. 21.

Mrs. Rice, the wife of John W. Rice, was discovered at the bottom of the steps February 21 by a group of boys who were playing basketball in the basement. The boys told church officials Mrs. Rice had called from the first floor, asking if her son Robert was there. Shortly afterward, they heard a noise and found Mrs. Rice lying at the bottom of the steps. A Lower Merion police ambulance rushed her to Bryn Mawr Hospital where she was unconscious until her death last Thursday.

Mrs. Rice, a native of Paducah, Ky., moved to Narberth in 1941 after living in East Orange, N. J., for many years.

Town Talk

By DOROTHY M. OGDEN

While working on the feature story of Walter Fox this week, he gave me some 1915 issues of "Our Town," which was published in those days by the Narberth Civic Association.

Back in May, 1915, there is a story about State aid for Wynnewood Rd. . . things have hardly changed at all. The State, Township and Borough are still arguing about fixing that road, and its drainage . . .

Incidentally, one of the interesting items Mr. Fox told me was that Mrs. Norman Jefferies was the lady who suggested the planting of cherry trees in the Borough, and in Narbrook Park, particularly. He says that is the reason Narbrook Park has an arboretum rating today . . .

Sat with Mrs. Harry Hollar, Joe Adelz, and Frank Tinker from the Narberth Business Council up at last week's Chamber of Commerce meeting. Mrs. Hollar was looking very spring-like with those pretty flowers on her hat, which matched her print dress, and we all had lots of fun . . .

Jane Euler was telling me about the two-way speaker system she and George have installed in their new shop at 33 N. Narberth Ave. Seems that with their living quarters in the apartment upstairs, she often answers the chimes signifying the entrance of a customer downstairs.

"Once," she said, "the customer was so scared he left, not being able to figure out where the voice was coming from."

The Daniel J. Hess family, of 419 Anthwyn Rd., became

KNOW YOUR BOROUGH

Fox Is Serving Third Term On Council; 2d as Its Head

Walter A. Fox, a distinguished-looking man with a kindly smile, is serving his second year as President of the Narberth Borough Council and his third term as a Councilman.

He has been interested in community affairs since the day, thirty years ago, that he bought a lot in Narbrook Park when the Narberth Civic Association began to clear what was then farmland.

A Native of Buffalo He was born in Buffalo, New York, the son of August and Victoria Schey Fox. His father was a grocery importer, a business that had been in the Fox family for many years.

But when young Walter got out of school, he answered an ad in the local paper, asking for "a boy to learn the advertising business."

At the age of 17, he did every sort of job for the publishing house of "La Hacienda," in Buffalo, and when he was 19 he was sent out on the road to sell advertising.

In 1912 he was promoted to advertising and assistant sales manager of the Lehigh Portland Cement Company in Allentown, and three years later married Dorothea Gleason, of Buffalo.

In 1917, when Fox decided to establish his own advertising business in Philadelphia, he picked Narberth as his new home town and he and

Says "We Must Pay the Price for World Peace"

"Have we dedicated to the cause of peace the courage, patience, the hard work and the self-sacrifice we gave so recently to the grim business of war?"

This was the question Don Rose, newspaper columnist and world traveler, asked members of the Narberth Parent Teachers' Association at their meeting Monday night.

Russia and War "Peace is just like anything else in life," Rose told the audience. "You may obtain it, if you're willing to pay for it . . . it depends how seriously you really want it."

Referring to Russia and danger of war, Rose said that during conversations with Russians while he was abroad, he was invariably asked by them:

"Just what do you Americans want?"

Recalling his experience in Germany, he told of souvenir hunting and of trading two cigarettes for a souvenir, pointing out that because of the horrors and terrors of the war something serious has happened.

Distorted Values The tragedy of haggling over the price of a souvenir in terms of cigarettes is typical of the distorted values, he said, Europeans have lost their sense of values and standards. Until we can restore a sense of what is true and what is worthwhile, the cause of peace has a long, long way to go."

Visiting in Norway, Rose found the friendliest of people in all Europe and in Denmark he saw a large group of undernourished children arriving from Belgium to a land where there was food.

The meeting was led by president Richard Lehman. Special music for the evening was presented by two pupils of the Narberth school: Bob Smart, who plays a trumpet solo, and Gwen Hunsicker, who played the piano.

Principal James Drennen announced that the next meeting of the PTA will be held Tuesday, April 22, at which time the school pupils will present two one-act plays for their parents.

Leonard Drake Denies Making Formal Charges

But Reiterates That Boro Apartment Is "A Fire Hazard"

Leonard Drake this week denied making "formal charges" that the Montgomery Court Apartments, Narberth, were a fire hazard.

A resident of Montgomery Court, Drake said this week that he did charge that "a fire hazard existed there," he made the statement in an informal conversation with Council President Walter A. Fox last November.

"A City" Connection "At the time," Drake said, "I didn't know Mr. Fox was connected with the city government."

Drake also said this week that his only other comment about the apartment house was that the installation of a sprinkler system in the apartment would be desirable.

In last week's issue of "Our Town" it was erroneously reported that Drake's charges were made at the November meeting of Council.

Slatted Lockers Drake said this week the apartment house basement was a fire hazard because it was cut into slatted lockers.

He denied charging that he asked Council to build a concrete fire block and to require a clean-up of the basement.

Drake said this week that he not only did not attend the November meeting of Council, but that he had never attended such a meeting.

Drake has been a Narberth resident for five years.

R.R. Here May Be All Electrified

Lions Club Hears Penna. R. R. Man

Possibility that the Cynwyd branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad may be completely electrified was suggested by S. E. McMassters, consultant freight agent of the railroad's Philadelphia Terminal Division.

McMassters spoke at the regular meeting of the Bala-Cynwyd Lions Club Tuesday evening at the Cynwyd Club. He also discussed the proposed increase in prices expected in freight and commutation rates.

Manuel Flisk, president of the Club, who presided at the meeting, chose a committee to attend the Lions District meeting April 10 in Bethlehem. York King, Joseph Dolan III, Hugh O'Neill, Edward Leary and Flick will attend for the Club.

Favorable comment on the Ladies' Night held last week led to the planning of another affair to be held May 24 at the Little Theater in Roxborough. "Uncle Harry" will be the production given.

HARRY B. LONG DIES

Harry Benjamin Long, 58, a resident of Ardmore for 15 years, died last Friday at his home, Hamilton Court Apartments, 113 Cricket Ave. He was clerk in the Philadelphia office of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Mr. Long is survived by his wife, Irene Matter Long. Funeral services were held Sunday at the Stuard Funeral Home, 104 Cricket Ave., Ardmore. Burial was in East Harborsburg Cemetery.

NO COUNTY DEBT

Montgomery County is one of the 14 in the State having no bonded indebtedness.

State Inspector on Way Here to Make Survey

A dangerous fire hazard exists in every apartment house in the Borough of Narberth, Fire Marshal Al Nulty charged this week.

"Borough Council should immediately pass a law requiring either a fireproof basement ceiling or an adequate sprinkling system in every apartment house," Nulty said.

"Chance to Escape" "In this way," he said, "our firemen would be given a chance to get at the blaze before it spreads and apartment residents would be given a decent chance to escape to the street."

Nulty's charge came this week after Council President Fox warned of dangerous fire hazards at the Montgomery Court Apartments.

This week, Fire Marshal Nulty called upon the State Department of Labor and Industry to send an investigator to Narberth immediately to inspect Montgomery Court Apartments.

The inspector is expected in the Borough some time this week.

Laws Inadequate

"Under present Borough law," Nulty explained, "I have no authority to make apartment houses to do any more than keep trash out of basement hallways."

"This is hardly adequate to meet dangerous conditions which I know exist in every apartment house in the Borough."

Mrs. Sue Potter, Montgomery Court manager, this week served notice on her tenants to clear out furniture and other household articles stored in open spaces in the apartment basement.

"However," she said, "I can't make tenants clean out their lockers."

Fire extinguishers in the apartment, she said, are being re-charged this week.

Mrs. Potter said Wednesday that there was nothing more she could do until the State inspection was made at the apartment.

Co-operation Promised

Sigmund Weintraub, who acts as agent for the apartment, reiterated this week that he would be glad to co-operate with Borough and State officials in any way they wanted.

In a letter this week to Leonard Drake, of the Montgomery Court Apartments, President Fox took complete responsibility for the charges leveled at the apartment.

He said, "Of course you did not come to Council's November meeting and neither did you register any complaint with respect to the situation. As I think I told you at the time of our talk in November, I have always been just a little bit apprehensive about the construction of that building and, as a consequence, was anxious to learn from a tenant who had firsthand knowledge, just what the storage conditions in the basement were."

"I took the matter up with Council and inadvertently mentioned your name because I thought that you would be interested in receiving a report of what would ensue because of my requesting the Public Safety Committee to investigate the conditions existing."

"I can see that in view of the newspaper report, that your name must be 'mud' and I hope that this letter, which you are free to use in any way you wish, will perhaps help to square you with your landlord, friends and neighbors. I do assume entire responsibility for the investigation and in view of the fact that conditions were not found satisfactory, I am very glad indeed that the matter came up."

Church Women Hear Talk by Miss Roberts

"We should analyze what is being done in the various departments of the Sunday School and see if the religious needs of the children are being met," said Miss Myfanwy Roberts, of the Pennsylvania Council of Christian Education, at a recent meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Narberth Methodist Church.

Miss Roberts said children's questions about God must be answered. She said children must be taught how to pray, and that they should be taught how to make the proper choices in life and how to get along as Christians, with others. "They should be given knowledge of the Bible," she said.

She said she felt there was not enough time given to religious education and advocated vacation schools.

Narberth D. A. R. Chapter Hears Case Worker

Mrs. Robert K. Moxon, of Narberth, case worker for the Main Line family service of the Main Line Federation of Churches, spoke at a meeting of the Dr. Benjamin Rush Chapter, D. A. R., of Narberth, Monday afternoon. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Eugene D. Hoskins, of 504 Haverford Ave., Narberth.

Introduced by Mrs. John L. Miller, program chairman, Mrs. Moxon explained the nature of her work, clarifying some of the misconceptions of the general public as to the types of services rendered by the family service.

She said that although the organization is sponsored by the Main Line Federation of Churches and Community Chest, it is not strictly a church work service. It is case work regardless of color or creed. "Our intention is to help families solve their own problems without forcing any special advice upon them," she said.

Mrs. Harold C. Fenno, who attended the election of State officers in Harrisburg March 7, reported that Mrs. Harlow B. Kirkpatrick, of Pittsburgh, had been elected new State regent.

Reports from the officers and committee chairmen were presented at the business meeting which preceded the program. The regent, Mrs. Joseph H. Baker, presided. Assisting the hostesses were Mrs. John H. Oliver, Mrs. Aaron B. Wainwright and Mrs. John L. Miller. Mrs. H. Ronald Paige presided at the tea table.

THE HAND THAT'S FASTER THAN THE EYE

Ever watch the hands of a trained operator at the telephone switchboard? They move like lightning. Each incoming call, indicated by a glowing light, is answered by the operator almost before an untrained person would notice the light aglow. If, during particularly busy periods, there's an occasional delay before your signal is answered, it's only because the switchboard equipment is loaded to the hilt. The operator knows when you're waiting, and she'll answer just as soon as a cord is available.

"My Pop knows when everybody gets up!"

No, Tommy's Dad is not a snooper. It's part of his job to know what time you and your neighbors start turning on lights, ranges, shavers, percolators and toasters in the morning. For these all call for more electricity, and he's the man who tells the power-plants when to send more current through the wires.

If a bad storm breaks, Tommy's father detours your electricity, so storm damage won't black out your community. If tomorrow will be colder, or cloudy, you'll need more current... he'll have it ready. As a Load Dispatcher, he holds one of the most important jobs in your electric company.

Next-door neighbors to everybody are these helpful men who see that you get all the low-cost electricity you want, when you want it. They have to know the hour-by-hour needs of every neighborhood... and that's where they draw on the intimate knowledge of the community that the electric company has gained over many years. It's the skill and experience of electric company people like Tommy's Dad—and the common sense business methods they use—that have built up for Americans the most and the best electric service in the world.

A MESSAGE FROM THE SECRETARY OF WAR

How you can help YOUR ARMY DO ITS PART FOR PEACE

With the President's proposal for the discontinuance of Selective Service on March 31, America will rely on voluntary enlistments for the maintenance of the Regular Army at authorized strength.

In view of world conditions today, this is a step of the gravest importance to every American citizen. Never before in history has any nation raised and maintained a million-man army by the volunteer system alone. Our ideals, our belief in individual freedom, our safety and our duty to promote world peace—all are bound up in this decision.

This is your Army, and voluntary enlistment is your choice. It must not fail. With your help it will not fail. The Army must continue to provide adequate occupation forces overseas, to supply these forces, and to help in keeping America strong and secure.

Your help and understanding can do much to encourage a steady flow of 3-year voluntary enlistments, necessary to sound training and the efficient performance of the Army's task.

When you discuss this subject with your sons, brothers, husbands or friends who may be considering an Army career, bear in mind the advantages offered by a 3-year enlistment. Among them are the choice of branch of service and of overseas theater where openings exist, and the opportunity for thorough training in valuable skills.

A job in the new Regular Army compares favorably with the average in industry, and has more opportunities for promotion than most.

You can help by giving your respect and support to the man who enlists voluntarily—to do his part in carrying out your country's world-wide obligations to build a peace that will endure.

HOW DO YOU GET SPRINGFIELD WATER? FROM A TAP... of Course!

In order to have your Pure Springfield water on tap we take it through many stages and miles and miles of water mains. As a matter of fact our suburban area is so great that 1200 miles of water mains are required.

These mains would reach from here to Oklahoma City. Of course that comparison may not mean much to you but what is important is that these mains are sufficient to bring it from us to you no matter where you are in our huge territory.

Pure Springfield water will always be on tap.

NARBERTH, LOWER MERION CLASH IN RUBBER GAME OF PRELIM PLAYOFF TONIGHT

Brooks Eliminate Coatesville With 58-39 and 54-50 Victories, While Borough and Vets Break Even; Title Series Starts Monday

Skippy Muir, Griffith Vets At Haverford

Finally given a break by the weatherman, Haverford High's basketball candidates worked out the first time on the Brookline field this week as more than 50 reported. Only two regulars were among the candidates turning out. They were Skippy Muir, hard-bitting catcher, and Outfielder Don Griffith. However, Coach Alie Corrig also welcomed Huber Smith, third string pitcher last season, and Bud Arnold, understudy to Muir at catcher.

Last season, Haverford finished second in Suburban Section One warfare. Prospects aren't too bright this year, for graduation cut heavily into the team, but the veteran Corrig usually comes up with one of the league's strongest teams. Haverford was in the running for the 1946 title until the last league game, when Abington clinched the crown by winning 11 innings, 2-1. Among the mound candidates who have been imbering up in the gymnasium the past couple weeks are Lou Rivier, DiFrancisco and Statts, the latter from South Philadelphia High.

SPORTS SCENE

By JACK FORD

Hollywood script writers probably would refuse an assignment on the life of Maj. Anthony R. Flores because it seemed too fantastic. The Valley Forge Military Academy fencing coach has experienced more thrills in 40 years than most men meet in a lifetime.

Maj. Flores, of Spanish-British extraction, was born in New York City. He attended New Utrecht High School, later studied at MacPadden Physical Education Institute in Washington and Lee. He also embarked on a pre-medical course at University of Quito, Ecuador.

A prosaic life ended for Maj. Flores in 1928, when he visited Central and South America as interpreter for an engineering group. In Honduras, he met an exiled Cuban, Juanita Uscor, who was an expert in the gentle art of Judo.

Maj. Flores, intensely interested in Judo, practiced constantly with Uscor. That diligence paid off in 1932, when he won the National Judo championship in New York.

The Valley Forge mentor thereafter successfully defended his title every year except during the war, finally vacating undefeated champion last year. It was one of the longest uninterrupted reigns in American sports history.

While traveling in Nicaragua, Maj. Flores became embroiled in that country's 1929 revolution. A blood-thirsty band of revolutionists attacked his firm's hydro-electric plant on the side of Malagua, and the major was seriously wounded. Bullets ricocheted off his head and chest and he received machete slashes of the leg and neck.

Only the traditionally timely arrival of American Marines saved the group, although Uscor, the Judo master, was killed in the mishap. Later, Maj. Flores returned to the States and coached fencing, weight lifting, boxing and wrestling teams at a New York YMCA.

He turned out six State and Mid-South championship wrestling teams while tutoring at Central Heights M. A., Lebanon, Tenn. His fencing fences also won four consecutive Mid-South titles.

During the war, the 5-foot-5, 150-pound Flores taught tactics of Judo to untrained combat at the U. S. Military Academy. Among his students were all-American Glenn Davis and Doc Blanchard. The major also authored numerous instruction booklets for both Army and civilian use.

Later Army assignments sent him to Ft. Benning, Ga., and to Ft. Warren, Wyo., where he was chief of hospital reconditioning. Before reviving fencing at Valley Forge last September, Maj. Flores operated a women's reconditioning gymnasium in White Plains, N. Y.

Brookline's hustling basketballers, who had to go on an eight-game winning spree in the closing weeks of the season to squeeze into the playoff picture, didn't waste any time qualifying for the Main Line League finals. They polished off favored Lunens Steel of Coatesville in two straight and now they're marking time to see whether they'll play either Narberth or the Merion Veterans in the championship seven-game series that gets underway Monday night.

Narberth and Lower Merion broke even in their first games and even in their second. The game at 8:30 P. M. probably will find on hand the largest independent court rivalry on the Main Line as the contest between the two is at the boiling point and fan interest is fever heat.

Narberth most likely will take the floor a slight favorite in its showdown game with Lower Merion as the protégés of George (Jiggs) Torrellana, coach of the team, the regular season games from the Vets and they handed Lower Merion a staggering 44-42 defeat Tuesday at Bala-Cynwyd to square the series after Lower Merion's sequenced out 4-23-43 decision in a wild thriller last Friday at Lower Merion.

Lower Merion romped off to a big lead in the first game and did not let it go. The game was a close one, but Narberth's game and the score was in doubt even at the final whistle.

With Lower Merion holding a one-point lead, a result of George Torrellana's late field goal, Larry Davis fouled Harry Kelleher as the whistle blew ending the game. Quite an argument developed when the timekeeper asked couldn't agree whether or not the foul had been called before or after the game was officially over. Referees Ed Panek and Nate Kelleher then ruled the foul was called at the instant the game ended and that Kelleher was entitled to a free throw.

The teams had to be brought from the dressing rooms for the play and many fans, who had hurried out of the gym at the final whistle thinking the game was over, missed the exciting end of the contest.

The pressure was terrific on Kelleher and when the foul finally was cleared so that he could take his try, the slim Yankee guard then tried to "light" the scarcely set ball to the rim and it never came close to sending the contest into an extra period.

Narberth made certain Tuesday of the verdict early, pounding out a quick early lead and held on to it all the way. A Lower Merion rally reduced Narberth's margin to 42-28 at halftime. In the second half, the pressure was terrific on Kelleher and when the foul finally was cleared so that he could take his try, the slim Yankee guard then tried to "light" the scarcely set ball to the rim and it never came close to sending the contest into an extra period.

Brookline qualified for the title series for the sixth time in 14 years by romping over Coatesville, 58-39, Wednesday night at Coatesville, and by being tied 2-2 in the first round of the playoffs. The Brookline team, which was "off" in the opener, was a much tougher rival Monday, but a sudden switch in the lineup in the third quarter enabled Brookline to win a 28-23 halftime deficit and remain in the driver's seat the rest of the way. A desperate Coatesville rally cut Brookline's edge to 61-50 with a minute to go, but a foul by Billy Thomas and a field goal by Bill Poletti in the last 30 seconds saw the win decided. Poletti tallied 29 points in the two games, and Charlie Gunther wound up with 14 in each and Thomas had 14 in the first and six in the second.

BASEBALL LEAGUE REORGANIZES MONDAY

The Main Line Baseball League will be reorganized next Monday, March 24, at a meeting at the recreation room of the Montgomery Court Apartments, Narberth, at 8 P. M.

According to secretary Charles E. Hansen, only one new franchise applicant, the Philadelphia Phillies, applied. Berwyn wants to return to the circuit after an absence of several years.

It is believed the league will operate with eight clubs, the same as last year.

Camera, E. Dusek To Meet at Arena

Primo Carnera and Ernie Dusek will meet in a return wrestling match at the Arena on Friday night, March 22. Tony Tonio Galento will referee the match.

Carnera, ex-world's heavyweight boxing champion, kept his undefeated wrestling record intact last Friday when he won a decision over Dusek. The Omaha grappler was disqualified by the referee for illegal tactics.

Elizabeth McCartney
Fatally Injured in Crash Sunday Morning

Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth McCartney, of 123 Elmwood Ave., Narberth, were held Thursday afternoon at the Frankfield Funeral Home, Simpson and Athens Aves., Ardmore.

Mrs. McCartney, who was 71 years old, was fatally injured Sunday morning when she was thrown to the street after the car in which she was riding careened out of control and crashed into a pole on Wynnewood Rd., near City Line Ave.

Companion Also Hurt

Miss Almada Streper, 60, with whom Mrs. McCartney lived and who was the driver of the car, was taken to Bryn Mawr Hospital with a possible fractured hip, three fractured ribs and multiple cuts and bruises. Her condition was reported serious.

Mrs. McCartney and Miss Streper, principal of William Penn High School for Girls, 15th and Mt. Vernon Sts., Philadelphia, were driving to Westminster Presbyterian Church, 50th St. and Chester Ave., at the time of the accident.

Moved Here in 1943

A native of Delaware Water Gap, Pa., Mrs. McCartney moved to Narberth in December, 1943, from Philadelphia. Her husband has been dead many years.

She made her home on Elmwood Ave. with Miss Streper and Miss Mary E. Eavenson.

Burial was in Leverington Cemetery, Roxborough.

Mary La Boiteaux
Work to Be Shown

A memorial exhibition of paintings and drawings by Mary M. H. La Boiteaux will be held at the Bryn Mawr Art Center, Haverford and Polo Rds., Bryn Mawr, opening Sunday, March 30, at 4 P. M. with a tea.

Mrs. La Boiteaux was born in Philadelphia, attended Wellesley College and the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts. She traveled extensively and many of her landscapes were done during her trips here and abroad.

She had many interests including art, music (which was her major in college), gardening and horticulture. Her garden was noted for its beauty in a community that is famous for its lovely gardens.

Among the group, which engaged her attention, were the Pennsylvania Horticulture Society, Art Alliance, Art Museum, Colonial Dames, Cosmopolitan Club of New York and Philadelphia, Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, Plastic Club, Print Club, Pennsylvania Society of New England Women, The Friends' Historical Association and the Bryn Mawr Art Center.

For many years she served as chairman of the Main Line Garden Club, the Gardeners, and on the National Horticultural Committee of the Garden Club of America.

The exhibition will be open to the public until April 13 every day except Mondays.

Gladwyne Boy Plays Indian and Winds Up Heap Red-in-the-Face

Little Juliana Ernst has serious doubts about her 6-year-old brother's knowledge of Indian lore.

Saturday afternoon, 4-year-old Juliana and brother Charles were exploring the family estate at Righters Mill and Summit Rds., Gladwyne.

Charles came up on a huge yellow log and proceeded to show Juliana how an old-time Indian scout concealed himself from the hostile white man. He crawled into the log on his hands and knees instead of going through snake-fashion. Halfway through the six-foot log, he got stuck and yelled for help.

Juliana ran back to the house and informed her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Ernst, Jr., that brother Charles was in a fix.

Mrs. Ernst called Lower Merion police and patrolman Joe Tierney and Morris Hoff rescued the red-faced Indian.
